ABSTRACT

The bibliography lists almost 4,000 books, articles, pamphlets, and research papers about women and feminism. All items in this third volume were published or in progress in 1973-1974. The items are classified by the topics of abortion, arts and media, contemporary women's movement, cultural studies, education, employment, family organization, government and politics, history, legal status, literary criticism, mental and physical health, rape, religion, sex roles and sex differences, sexuality, and bibliographies and resources. Most topics are divided into specific subtopics with each entry listed only once; thus, there are no cross-references. Some of the entries are annotated. A list of related bibliographical sources and an index to authors conclude the bibliography. (ND)

Documents acquired by ERIC include many informal unpublished materials not available from other sources. ERIC makes every effort to obtain the best copy available. Nevertheless, items of marginal reproducibility are often encountered and this affects the quality of the microfiche and hardcopy reproductions ERIC makes available via the ERIC Document Reproduction Service (EDRS). EDRS is not responsible for the quality of the original document. Reproductions supplied by EDRS are the best that can be made from the original.

PREFACE

This is the third volume of WOMEN'S WORK AND WOMEN'S STUDIES, a bibliography of books, articles, papers, pamphlets, and research about women and feminism published or in progress in 1973-1974. Questionnaires were sent to over four thousand women's studies teachers throughout the United States, and notices were placed in several feminist publications requesting information on pertinent research. Standard periodical indexes and abstracts dated 1973 or 1974 were combed for citations on women. Hence, some material from 1971 and 1972, if it was cited in the 1973-1974 index, may be included. Finally, many listings were garnered by systematically going through the Birdie Goldsmith Ast Resource Collection of the Barnard Women's Center. See the Appendix for a complete list of sources.

Designing useful subject categories was a major consideration in putting together the bibliography. Research about women often defies traditional categorization by discipline. The categories chosen derive, as much as possible, from the thrust of the material itself, rather than from predetermined subject headings. You will note, however, that there are no cross-references. We urge you to consult a variety of categories for any given inquiry.

Writings on women have mushroomed in the past few years. In an effort to include only that material which could be covered comprehensively, the bibliography no longer contains work published outside the United States, technical research, or poetry and fiction by women. Listings of activist groups and feminist periodicals have also been omitted as they are now readily available elsewhere. As with earlier editions of WOMEN'S WORK AND WOMEN'S STUDIES, articles from newspapers and popular magazines by and large have not been included.*

*We would like to thank all the women who contributed time, energy, and ideas to this volume of the bibliography. Our special thanks go to Pat Ballou and Sandra M. Whisler for their valuable advice and to the many librarians who generously participated in compiling this bibliography.

The publication of this volume was made possible by a bequest from the Estate of Helen Rogers Reid, a distinguished Barnard graduate of the Class of 1903.

Eliot has created in Will Ladislaw, Dorothea's husband, an early example of the liberated male who fails to correspond to the sex role stereotype. He is not the dominant male; he lacks the "manly" self assurance of the stereotype, the competitiveness that exploits others in pursuit of economic success; he can play freely, show his emotions openly, be gentle, and show weakness.

Suggestion is to remove rape as a special crime because it is already defined as illegal in the definition of assault, sexual abuse, and coercion, and is therefore a redundant legal concept. It singles out female sexual organs and therefore reinforces traditional sex roles and the double standard. Now, the law and court process denigrate and transfer guilt to the victim.

Of the 140 submitted (21 picture, 36 non-fiction, 83 novels), 40 books (10 picture, 12 non-fiction, 18 novels) were chosen as best treating women and girls realistically and fairly. These forty are listed and annotated.

3938 WOMEN AND LITERATURE: AN ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY OF WOMEN WRITERS, 1973. (The Sense and Sensibility Collective, 57 Ellery Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138) 58 pages.

14 MENTAL AND PHYSICAL HEALTH

3939 Donna Cherniak and Allen Feingold, BIRTH CONTROL HANDBOOK. Montreal: Handbook Collective, 1972. 47 pages.
Covers female sexual anatomy and functioning, conception, child birth, all methods of contraception, abortion, and venereal disease. Diagrams, photographs and tables illustrate the text and there is a bibliography.

3940 Walter R. Gove and Jeannette F. Tudor, "Adult sex roles and mental illness," AMERICAN JOURNAL OF SOCIOLOGY 78(4):812-835, January 1973.

3941 Joann Javonovich and others, WOMEN AND PSYCHOLOGY. Cambridge: Cambridge-Goddard Graduate School for Social Change, 1972. (New England Free Press, 60 Union Square, Somerville, Massachusetts 02143)
This selected, annotated bibliography is divided into six sections, each one preceeded by an introduction describing how and why the particular materials were selected. The six sections are: philosophy of sicence, methodology and statistical uses; history of psychology; sex differences, sex role development and socialization of children; individual psychology and personality theory; individual development and group dynamics; the small group in the development of political organization. The approach of the compilers is from a feminist and political point of view.

3942 U.S. National Institute of Mental Health, "Women and mental health: selected annotated references," 1974. (Government Publication Office, Washington, DC) 247 pages.

The Barnard College Women's Center is reaffirmation of the College's traditional commitment to developing new ways to help women realize their potential. In addition to initiating, coordinating, and supporting a wide range of programs an services which are open to everyone, the Center sponsors an annual conference o feminist scholarship; maintains a collection of books, articles, and periodicals dealing with contemporary feminist issues; and serves as a clearinghouse of information on women's groups and services.
